Course Description and Prerequisites

A lecture course which surveys the basic elements of visual form. Traditional and contemporary visual arts from around the world are examined in ways designed to provide a framework for meaningful responses to form and content.

Assignments will include visual analyses and regular contributions to online discussion. Writing 121, Reading 115, and Math 20 (or equivalent placements) are the recommended required levels for this course. Art 102 meets requirements for art majors, general education, and arts and letters for graduation or transfer (AAOT).

Learning Outcomes:

- Articulate, verbally and in writing, a general understanding of the significance of visual art in culture.
- Create a personal work of art.
- Articulate, verbally and in writing, the form and content of the piece, along with information about significant artists and art works related to the course content and the created artwork.
- Articulate, verbally and in writing, appropriate art vocabulary and art evaluation concepts when viewing visual art.

Course Text:

- Understanding Art, 10th Edition, by Lois Fichner-Rathus

Having taken this class, you will:

- gain a broader view of art history and understand the context(s) in which art has been made.
- have been introduced to creative artists who have lived in times both like and unlike our own.
- encounter ideas and approaches to art-making that may spark your own creative process.
- become familiar with analytical tools and terminology that can enhance your ability to engage with what you see (both in art and in life) and to communicate your understanding and experience to others.
- recognize formal qualities in art and read visual elements, artistic and cultural styles, and symbols
- view works of art “dynamically,” that is, to appreciate and communicate simultaneously individual viewer response, the uniqueness of a work, its origins and precedent, its potential as an inspiration and influence on later art, and its relationship to a particular cultural moment

Participation Expectations

You are expected to enter the course a minimum of three times a week to work on the weekly modules, check email, and participate in discussions. Prompt participation in discussions is especially important since others may be depending on your input. Each time you log into the course be sure to check for any new announcements, email and discussion messages.

Assignments, Discussions, and Assessments

All assignments, discussion and assessments will be completed through the online education platform Moodle. Generally, each week's activities comprise one 'module', but depending on the pace of the course and student ambitions the following week's module may be able to be unlocked. For a complete overview of assignments, discussions, and assessments as well as due dates for each, please refer to the course calendar. Students have until a module's due date to complete the required work.

Assignments

Students will need to complete any module assignments (short analyses, quizzes) and post their answers by the due date (which is generally Sunday at 11:59 PM). Grading criteria and points are described on each assignment. Feedback on their responses and posted grades can be expected within one week after the due date.

Discussions

Each discussion topic will be released on Sunday evening (again, generally by 11:59 PM) of a particular module. Students are expected to participate in discussions by posting their comments on each module's discussion board. For full credit students students should post at least three times in each module. This can be accomplished by replying to other students' posts and/or by initiating their own topics.

The grade (0 to 5 points) for each week's participation depends on whether or not the post(s) are completed within the designated week as well as on the quality of your discussion comments. Please refer to the information on “netiquette” (Communicating Online) for guidelines about the content of written communications.

Evaluation of Assignments/Assessment:

- Graded: A letter grade will be assigned to you unless the student prefers another option. In this case timely notice must be given either to the instructor or the registration office.
- Pass/No Pass: A cumulative grade of C or better receives a passing grade.
- Audit: No credit is given for an audited class.
- Incomplete: Consider this option only if an emergency prevents you from completing the final assignments. Please talk to the instructor about working out a make-up plan.
- Withdrawal from the class: the "W" grade will be assigned when the student withdraws from a class through Student Records by the end of the seventh week of classes. If you simply vanish without officially withdrawing, you will receive a No Pass grade.

100-90 = A; 89-80 = B; 79-70 = C; 69-60 = D

Criteria for Evaluation (Percentages Based on Overall Points)

Assignments (~20%): Four short writing assignments will be assigned at the beginning and end of the term as an exercise in visual analysis and art historical terminology.

Participation (~40%): Students are expected to make frequent weekly contributions to the online discussion board by posting your own topics and responding to the ideas, questions and opinions of your fellow classmates. Be sure to do your reading assignments and be well-prepared for your discussions.

Quizzes and Exams (~40%): There will be six short quizzes and two online exams. All will be open-note and open-book. The final exam will not be cumulative, meaning students will not be tested on information covered before the midterm exam.

Late Work and Make-up Policy

Assignments must be completed on time in order to earn full credit. Late assignments will be accepted for full credit if acceptable notification is given on or before the due date. Moodle locks assignments after the due date, so if you want an extension, you must notify me so that I can reset the date for you.

Flexibility Statement

Assignments will be due and exams will be given as scheduled unless particular circumstances arise that necessitate change. These may include inclement weather and certain institutional problems. You will be notified of a revised schedule.

Academic Integrity

Cheating is against LBCC policy. Cheating includes any attempt to defraud, deceive, or mislead the instructor in arriving at an honest grade assessment, and may include copying answers from other students or using unauthorized notes during tests. Plagiarism is a particular form of cheating that involves presenting as one's own the ideas or work of another, and may include using other people's ideas without proper attribution and submitting another person's work as one's own. Violations of the cheating policy will result in a grade of '0' for the assignment in question, and may result in a failing grade for the course at the instructor's discretion. For further information review the institution's Academic Integrity Policy.

ADA Statement

LBCC is committed to supporting all students. If you have an accommodation form from the Office of Disability Services (ODS), please contact me privately to discuss your needs. Accommodations are not retroactive, but begin when the instructor receives the ODS approved academic accommodations form from the student or the ODS office. To request academic accommodations due to a disability, please contact ODS at 541-917-4789 or request it online. For information about technologies that help people with disabilities in taking Web-based distance learning classes, please visit LBCC's Office of Disability Services.

Students with Disabilities

If you plan to use academic accommodations for this course, please contact the instructor as soon as possible to make arrangements. Accommodations are not retroactive, but begin when the instructor receives the ODS approved academic accommodations form from the student (this form may be submitted via email). To request academic accommodations for a disability, please contact a counselor in the Office of Disability Services (ODS) on any LBCC campus. Office locations, phone numbers and additional information can be located on the OSD website: <http://www.linnbenton.edu/go/disability-services>

Campus Resources

The library at Linn-Benton Community College hosts diverse means going above and beyond in topic research with multimedia services, ranging from Academic Search Premier (EBSCO) to Videos on Demand.

The Leaning Center is available on most campuses (Albany, Corvallis and Lebanon) with number of opportunities to assist you if you having difficulty with the course. Some of the many facilities include a Writing Center for help on papers for any class; mini-courses for vocabulary improvement, note-taking, & test-taking skills; and individual assistance for college reading and study skills courses. The Writing center: offers drop-in services for friendly one-on-one help on finding ideas for papers, overcoming writer's block, applying for scholarships, preparing class presentations, documenting research materials, and organizing and developing your thoughts. Additionally, students are encouraged to take advantage of the expansive list of online writing resources.

Code of Student Conduct

Admission to Linn-Benton Community College carries with it the presumption that the student will conduct him/herself as a responsible member of the College community. Thus, when a student is admitted to and/or enrolled at Linn-Benton Community College (LBCC), the student likewise assumes the obligation to observe standards of conduct which are appropriate to the pursuit of educational goals. Students shall generally have an opportunity to participate in the formulation of policies and rules pertaining to student conduct and, to the extent legally permitted, in the enforcement of such rules. LBCC administration and its Board, however, retain the authority to create and enact College policy. Programs based on contracts with government agencies or external funding sources operated outside of the comprehensive campuses may adopt separate conduct procedures consistent with Linn-Benton Community College's Code of Student Conduct, the program's goals, and the principle of due process for all parties. Linn-Benton Community College may take appropriate disciplinary action when student conduct deemed by the Dean of Student Affairs or designee to be disruptive to the operation of the College, or constitutes one or more of the behaviors identified in the LBCC Student Rights and Responsibilities.
