Course Description: An introductory course in drawing the nude figure. Emphasis is on basic anatomical structures, surface topography, foreshortening, composition, and form. Students are exposed to art historical references as they relate to the human form, as well as being encouraged to write and think critically about art and expression. Models will be provided when available. This is a structured and rigorous 200 level course.

Student Learning Outcomes:

Upon successful completion of this course, students will be able to:

- Apply the creative process in planning, designing and solving visual problems.
- Practice advanced drawing techniques and skills.
- Draw a proportionate human figure which demonstrates a basic understanding of anatomy.
- Effectively critique art using art and anatomy vocabulary.
- Understand the significance of figurative art across cultures and time.
- Recognize and reflect on (orally and in writing) the potential within each individual for creative expression.

Course format: Classes are designed with a weekly schedule of two hours of lecture and 4 hours of lab. Most classes will begin with individual studio setup, short lecture, critique, and then progress to lab work. Classes will be devoted to drawing from life, discussing technique and anatomical structures, critiquing work, and completing assignments that target specific drawing concepts. The last ten minutes of each day will be devoted to a brief clean up.

Drawing from the Nude Model: Traditional methods used in a scholarly approach to art include the use of the nude model; this class is solidly based upon that studio tradition and practice. This is a privileged learning experience valued by the art department as an important step in a student's introduction to college level art.

Classroom Climate: We are all responsible for creating a safe and inclusive studio environment. Any unscholarly or disrespectful remarks (as interpreted by the instructor) may warrant the students being dismissed from the class session. (Examples: Remarks that humiliate; are intended to embarrass, sexualize or objectify the model; remarks about specific body part size, weight, beauty/ugliness ... are not appropriate.) Repeated inappropriate remarks or behavior will result in the students dismissal from the class for the remainder of the term. While the model is disrobed no use of cellphones will be permitted. Anyone taking photos without consent from both the model and instructor will be asked to leave the session and may be required to attend a disciplinary session with the dean.

Attire: Wear clothing to class that is comfortable and can be soiled with charcoal, graphite, etc. This will happen since Art 234 is essentially a studio/shop class. Students may bring in protective items (gloves, aprons) if desired.

Attendance: Repeated absences will significantly hamper your understanding of course content and weaken the progress of your portfolio. Four or more absences may result in not passing this course. Absences related to serious illness or emergency should be communicated in a timely manner. Makeup details here. You must still upload your drawings, homework, and view our class lecture slides for each absence. Punctuality is essential! The door will be locked after the studio session begins.

Grading Contract

Artists will no longer receive grades on individual artworks. Letter grades are a distraction and do not convey constructive information to an artist. Instead, feedback will be offered to each artist in the form of critiques, discussion, and studio feedback.

Mistakes and visual problems are how artists learn and gain vital information about improving their work. A conventional grading system only rewards success within a subjective hierarchical structure. The question remains, who should define what makes a successful artwork? Art is subjective and the artist who learns to establish their own concept of visual unity will have a stronger understanding of their own studio practice. The studio is most fruitful when artists are allowed to experiment, fail, learn, and grow without additional fear around their academic performance.

To receive an A artists must:

Attend all classes or makeup sessions with independent study outlined here.

Engage in lectures, readings and studio time.

Participate in all critiques by offering insights and constructive criticism.

Complete all homework assignments.

Submit an edited digital portfolio.

To receive a B artists must:

Attend most classes or makeup sessions with independent study outlined here.

Participate in lectures, readings and studio time.

Critique by offering insights and constructive criticism.

Complete most homework assignments.

Submit a digital portfolio.

To receive a C artists must:

Attend most classes (3 or less absences).

Participate in lectures, readings and studio time.

Engage in critique.

Complete some homework assignments.

F Grades:

Artists, missing 4 or more classes will prevent you from engaging in a large portion of lectures, critiques, and studio sessions with the model. Progress in the course is entirely based on your hard work and participation. Missing 4 classes without a makeup plan will result in an F. Students who have an emergency (medical or interpersonal) should write to me a.s.a.p.

Portfolios: Keep ALL drawings, label each with your name and date on the back. These will be your portfolio entries. Each week your strongest drawings and homework should be photographed and uploaded to your folder within the shared class folder on google drive. Photos are due from the previous week before the start of the next class. For example, photos from week 1 should be uploaded before class on Monday of week 2. Extra Credit is available! Extra credit can be earned by attending an artist lecture, submitting work to a show, creating additional drawings, or watching an approved documentary.

Academic Integrity: Work made before the start of this course or for other art courses will not be accepted for credit. The presentation of another individual's work as one's own or the act of seeking unfair academic advantage through cheating, plagiarism or other dishonest means is a violation of the college's "Student Rights and Responsibilities." Turning in another artist's work as your own is plagiarism. All sources must be clearly presented. A plagiarized project will receive a zero. Two zeros for plagiarism will be grounds for an F in the course, regardless of other grades.*Recycling, referencing, appropriation, and outsourcing play important roles in contemporary art. If you use these tools be sure you can clearly state the conceptual significance of your choices and be transparent about them during critique/reflection.

You should meet with your instructor during the first week of class if:

- You have a documented disability and need accommodations.
- Your instructor needs to know medical information about you.
- You need special arrangements in the event of an emergency.

If you have documented your disability, remember that you must make your request for accommodations through the Center for Accessibility Resources (CFAR) Online Services webpage every term in order to receive accommodations. If you believe you may need accommodations but are not yet registered with CFAR, please visit the CFAR Website for steps on how to apply for services or call (541) 917-4789.

Statement of Inclusion: To promote academic excellence and learning environments that encourage multiple perspectives and the free exchange of ideas, all courses at LBCC will provide students the opportunity to interact with values, opinions, and/or beliefs different than their own in safe, positive and nurturing learning environments. LBCC is committed to producing culturally literate individuals capable of interacting, collaborating and problem-solving in an ever-changing community and diverse workforce.

Basic Needs Statement: Any student who has difficulty affording groceries or accessing sufficient food to eat every day, or who lacks a safe and stable place to live, and believes this may affect their performance in the course, is urged to contact the Single Stop Office for support (SinglestopatLBCC@linnbenton.edu , 541-917- 4877, or visit us on the web www.linnbenton.edu under Student Support for Current Students).

Title IX Reporting Policy: If you or another student are the victim of any form of sexual misconduct (including dating/domestic violence, stalking, sexual harassment), or any form of gender discrimination, LBCC can assist you. You can report a violation of our sexual misconduct policy directly to our Title IX Coordinator. You may also report the issue to a faculty member, who is required to notify the Coordinator, or you may make an appointment to speak confidentially to our Advising and Career Center by calling 541-917-4780.
