Course Description The transition to college presents unique challenges. Whether you're a recent high school graduate or a student returning after time away, this course is designed to provide you with the tools you need to apply your strengths and meet your educational goals. By the end of the term, you will have a roadmap to graduation and develop valuable relationships with people who can support you along the way.

Learning Outcomes

1. Identify your responsibilities, characteristics of successful students, and the barriers to college success.
2. Apply introductory critical thinking skills.
3. Navigate important electronic educational resources.
4. Develop a specific Education Plan related to your career/educational goals.
5. Locate and know how to access support services and educational resources.
6. Establish relationships with peers, LBCC faculty, staff, and an advising relationship with a designated academic advisor.

Expectations How to be successful in this class:

- Attend and participate in all class sessions COME PREPARED!
- Bring Laptop, read the weeks assignments ahead of class.
- Complete all assignments.

Preparation, Participation, Attendance

Attendance is required for a passing grade (see "Grading" section) Attendance in class is recorded by your instructor. Class attendance is important, so please come to every class on time. Come with the reading and homework done, and be ready to be an active learner.

Cell Phones must be turned on silent and should be out of sight during class.

Grading This is a pass/no pass class.

Much of the learning in this course is directly related to students' involvement in classroom activities. In order to pass DG, a student must:

1. Attend a minimum of 70% of all classes. Attendance is strongly suggested for all classes.
2. Completion of a minimum of 70% of the specified assignments.
3. Mandatory completion of an Education Plan with the signature of your Advisor.
4. Mandatory visit with your Advisor

Late Work It is expected that you will turn in your work in on time. Turning assignments in on time is an essential element of college success. I do understand that "life happens". Therefore, I will permit one late assignment during the term with no questions asked. Other than that one assignment, no late work will be accepted. Please talk to me if you are having difficulty meeting course deadlines.

College Policies

Disability services and emergency planning:

Students who may need accommodations due to documented disabilities, who have medical information which the instructor should know, or who need special arrangements in an emergency should speak with their instructor during the first week of class. If you believe you may need accommodations but are not yet registered with the Center for Accessibility Resources (CFAR), please visit the CFAR Website for steps on how to apply for services or call 541-917-4789.

LBCC Comprehensive Statement of Nondiscrimination

LBCC prohibits unlawful discrimination based on race, color, religion, ethnicity, use of native language, national origin, sex, sexual orientation, gender, gender identity, marital status, disability, veteran status, age, or any other status protected under applicable federal, state, or local laws. For further information see Board Policy P1015 in our Board Policies and Administrative Rules. Title II, IX, & Section 504: Scott Rolen, CC-108, 541-917-4425; Lynne Cox, T-107B, 541-917-4806, LBCC, Albany, Oregon. To report: linnbenton-advocate.symplicity.com/public-report.

Know your rights and responsibilities

LBCC students have rights: the right to free speech, the right to assemble, the right of a free press, etc. LBCC students also have responsibilities to their community: the responsibility to participate and engage in class, the responsibility to advocate for their needs (ask for help), the responsibility to support a respectful teaching and learning environment, the responsibility to treat all persons with respect, the responsibility to be truthful and honest in all work and communications, and the responsibility to follow staff directions, local, state, and federal laws.

Rights and responsibilities balance together to create the best learning environment. For example, while you have free speech in the café or courtyard, in class the instructor decides whose turn it is to talk and what the topics for conversation will be. Students are free to believe what they believe, but instructors may require students to learn and recite concepts, principles, or theories for a class even if the student does not believe those concepts. You play a role in creating a positive community at LBCC.

Please review your rights and responsibilities (<http://linnbenton.edu/go/studentrights>).

If you believe a student is violating your rights, ask to be treated with respect. If that does not cure the situation, report to Associate Dean Dr. Lynne Cox, Takena Hall Rm. 107. If you believe a faculty member or LBCC employee is violating your rights, please report to Human Resources, Scott Rolen, Calapooia Center Rm. 108.

Changes to the Syllabus I reserve the right to change the contents of this syllabus due to unforeseen circumstances. You will be given notice of relevant changes in class, through a Moodle Announcement, or through LBCC e-mail.

Any student who has difficulty affording groceries or accessing sufficient food to eat every day, or who lacks a safe and stable place to live, and believes this may affect their performance in the course, is urged to contact the Roadrunner Resource Center for support (resources@linnbenton.edu), or visit us on the web www.linnbenton.edu/RRC under Student Support for Current Students). Our office can help students get connected to resources to help. Furthermore, please notify the professor if you are comfortable in doing so. This will enable them to provide any resources that they may possess.
