The Student Athlete...

Providing opportunities is the cornerstone of our athletic program. Opportunities allow for success, but do not assure it. In the athletic program as in all college programs, desire and hard work make winners of our students. Success in our baseball program can also be measured by the fact that we have won five Southern Region titles in the past seven years, all coached by one of the finest community college baseball coaches in the Northwest, Greg Hawk. In 1988 and 1991, LBCC's baseball teams went all the way to win the NWAACC championship. The 1992 team had an overall record of 24 wins and 15 losses and Southern Region record of 15 wins and 9 losses.

Our athletic program in general, and particularly our baseball program, provides our student athletes with a positive dimension of student life and a dimension that is supported at Linn-Benton Community College. This season should be an exciting one with a winning tradition, so we hope that you will enjoy it. Thanks for supporting your community college.

Dave Bakley, Director of Athletics

The Athletic Program...

We are extremely proud of our six sports programs at LBCC. As a member of the Southern Region of the Northwest Athletic Association of Community Colleges, we take great pride in the many accomplishments of the teams and individuals past and present that have represented LBCC in men's and women's athletics.

Since our program began in the fall of 1970, intercollegiate athletics has played an integral part in meeting our institutional goals and objectives by providing student athletes with competencies to function as lifelong learners and contributors to society. Athletic activity promotes the development of responsibility, teamwork, ethical conduct, critical thinking skills, integrity, the clarification of values and concern for quality.

Participation in athletics requires a commitment to high standards of scholarship, sportsmanship and discipline. Scores of former student athletes have utilized their athletic experiences and have gone on to distinguish themselves, playing prominent roles in their chosen vocations and professions. Four of our former student athletes have gone on to represent the United States in the '84, '88 and '92 Olympic Games.

LBCC athletics provides an enthusiasm and spirit that is exciting. We appreciate your support and encourage you to tell your friends about us. Thanks for being part of our program and please join us in the near future for more exciting competition.

Special Thanks to Dick McClain**

Dick McClain is the new Executive Director of the Northwest Athletic Association of Community Colleges this year. The NWAACC office is located on the Linn-Benton campus and is staffed by Mr. McClain, Teresa Thomas and Rob Kelly, sports writer and photographer. "Thanks Dick, for all the great years of leadership."

HISTORY OF LBCC AND THE BASEBALL TEAM

The endeavor to establish Linn-Benton Community College began in 1963 through the cooperative efforts of the Linn County Chamber of Commerce and community leaders in Benton County. In 1964, a study prepared by the University of Oregon's Bureau of Educational Research documented the need for a community college in the two-county area.

In 1966, through a local election, the Linn-Benton Community College District was formed. In the fall of 1967, 2,800 students enrolled in the college's first classes, held in rented facilities throughout the district.

Following voter approval of a 6.1 million bond issue in 1970, the college moved from its headquarters at 203 W. First Avenue in Albany to the present college site. Classes were held in trailers and modular buildings during the construction of permanent facilities.

As the campus has grown, so has the student body. Currently, over 27,000 people take one or more classes through LBCC each year, or a full-time equivalent of nearly 5,000 full-time students, making LBCC the fifth largest of Oregon's community colleges.

An important component of the LBCC campus is the athletic program and the quality athletes that it attracts. Included in the athletic program are: the women's basketball, track, and volleyball teams and the men's basketball, track, and baseball teams.

The first LBCC baseball team was initiated by Mr. Dick McClain in 1970. Mr. McClain coached the Roadrunners to the first Oregon Community College Athletic Association Championship. Mr. McClain coached the LBCC baseball team from 1971 through 1976 and led the Roadrunners to OCCAA championships in five out of those six years. Mr. McClain successfully stepped down from coaching duties at LBCC in 1976 with Mr. Dave Dangler taking over the helm in the fall of '76. Dangler led his teams to three league titles, three regional titles and participated in the NJCAA College World Series in three of the six years.

Coach Greg Hawk accepted the teaching and coaching duties at LBCC in 1983. Coach Hawk has led the LBCC Baseball Roadrunner teams to five NWAACC Southern Region League titles in the past seven seasons. He has taken the Linn-Benton baseball teams to the NWAACC playoffs seven times out of his nine year tenure and brought home the NWAACC championship trophy two out of the last five years, both in 1988 and 1991. Over the past 26 years, one thing hasn't changed; LBCC cares about their success, both academically and in the promotion of quality athletic teams. If history repeats itself, LBCC is looking forward to a successful year ahead keeping with the tradition of providing a solid academic base for its athletes as well as the opportunity to continue playing collegiate athletics.

1993 Season Preview

The "Northwest Baseball Tradition" is about to begin at Linn-Benton Community College. After assessing players during fall and winter workouts and putting them up against outside competition like Lower Columbia Community College, Chemeketa, OSU JV's, NW Allstars from Washington state, and Clackamas Community College, Coach Hawk is excited with the players that are donning Linn-Benton uniforms.

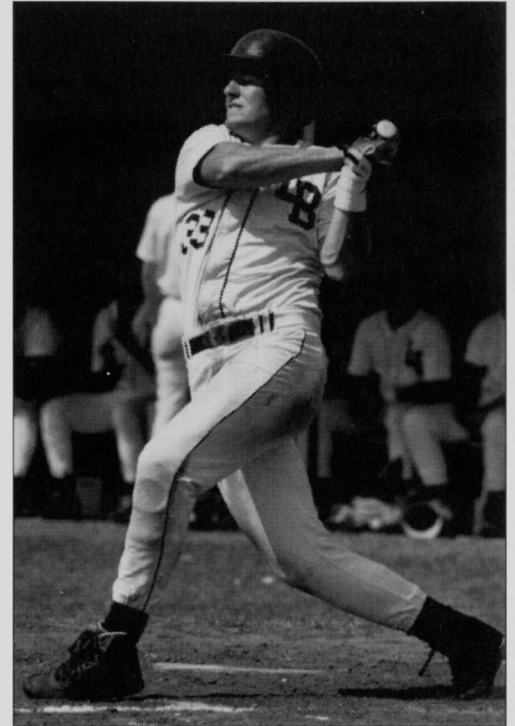

After graduating four starters and four of the top five pitching staff, Coach Hawk's team will have a lot of new faces in the lineup. He will be counting on leadership roles from the following sophomores: John Downing, second team All-southern region selection behind the plate; Scott Anderson, first team All-southern region outfielder last season who will be moving to the first base position; Todd Morehead who hit .288 a year ago who will be playing an important role in the outfield this season; and Scott Hardin, second team All-southern region shortstop. Returning pitching staff includes Jeremy Beard, Ben Lofton, Bill Pennick, Brad Livsey, and Phil Lyman who will provide depth and maturity from the mound.

"We will be very tough defensively this year and if we execute fundamentally, we can close up at the top of our league this year," Coach Hawk states. Helping to accomplish this feat will be new players on the roster including Darin Piburn from Sprague High School, catcher-designated hitter Ben Graves from Eagle Point, third baseman Kevin Holland of McNary, Doug McCauley out of Crater High School helping out at first base, DH positions, and second baseman Stephen Hagen of South Salem. In addition, Hawk has six Puerto Rican players who learned about Linn-Benton's great baseball tradition through Coach Terrell Ayo, who coaches at Crescent Valley. These players include drafted freshman Carlos Williams, centerfield; Joel Kercado, third base; Jose' Cepeda, second base; Javier Hernandez, shortstop; Willie Resto, pitcher; and Carmelo Carrasquillo, outfield.

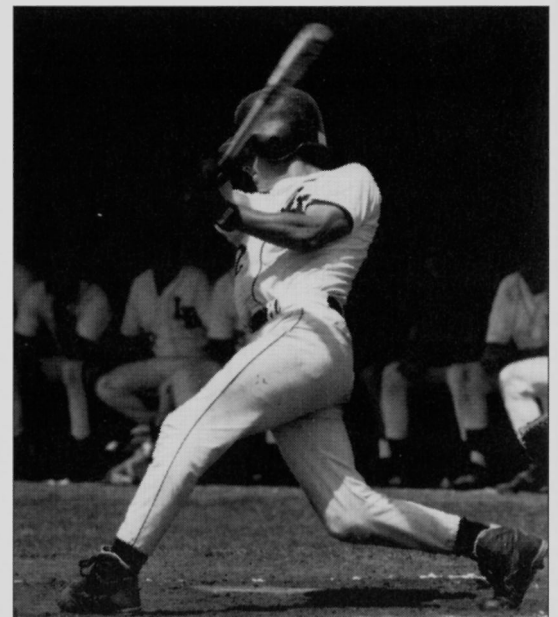

Offensively, the Roadrunners top pitching should come from a pair of freshmen and a well-traveled sophomore. Jeff Tuck, a 6-foot-1, 175 pounder from Glencoe, earned most valuable player honors at last spring's State-Metro prep all-star series in The Dalles. The other freshman is 6-4, 190-pound Eric Schaffner, a McNary alum whom Hawk says is "just really solid." Rounding out the trio is Mark Andersen. The 6-2, 203-pound Andersen went to high school at Churchill and came to LB after stops at Lane and San Luis Obispo's Cuesta College.

"We have the pitchers to be successful," Hawk states. "Offensively and defensively we're very solid. We're looking for great things to happen this year and I feel that we will give the other teams we play a run for their money."

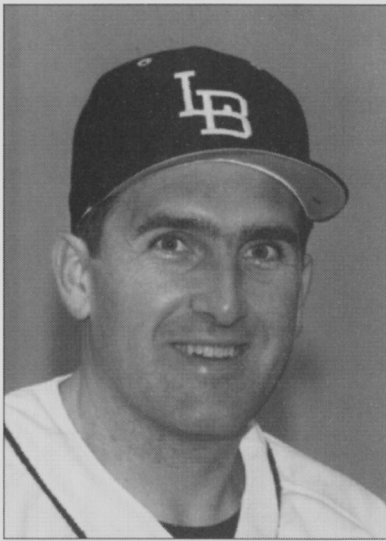

Coach Hawk understands the value of fine baseball traditions and believes that this season will be one of those seasons where it could fall right into place. "We have sophomore leaders, strong pitching capabilities, tough fundamental defensive, and the right kind of chemistry to make it work. We've been to the top, and we know what it's about," Hawk states. "I think we have a team that can get the job done."

Todd Morehead returns to lead the Roadrunners offensively.

Shortstop Scott Hardin provides leadership qualities to help the Roadrunners on their drive to another Southern Region title.

#15 Head Coach, Greg Hawk

Coach Hawk is presently in his tenth season at Linn-Benton Community College and is preparing his Roadrunners for another run at the Northwest Athletic Association of Community Colleges Southern Region title and a return trip to the NWAACC league tournament. Hawk accepted the Roadrunner job in 1983 after earning his Masters of Science in Athletic Administration at Eastern Washington University. He has compiled a 142-77 (.648) league record and an overall record of 213-138 (.606) in the past eight seasons at LBCC. Winning is a tradition at Linn-Benton from the past to the present. "When I came to LB, I knew there would be great expectations of me due to the rich baseball tradition of the past" said Hawk. "I like that type of pressure, to excel, it drives you to be more competitive than your opponents."

Hawk understands competition and excellence. He was the first player from Centerville High School (Iowa) to be selected to the All-State team (1st team) as a catcher. Hawk played his college baseball at Northwest Missouri State University in Maryville, Missouri. Upon graduation from college in 1980, Hawk accepted a teaching/coaching position at Sweet Springs, Missouri. Hawk led the Sweet Springs baseball teams for two years achieving a 28-4 record and reaching the regional finals his second year.

Along with coaching and teaching duties, Coach Hawk leads a busy family life. His wife, Beth, and two daughters, April Renee and Whitney continue to enjoy leading the life of a sports oriented family. You will see them in the cheering section at a majority of the LBCC games, especially at tournament time.

"Education is the key to upward mobility. You get out of school what you put into it," says Hawk. "I have great expectations of my athletes in the classroom as well as on the ball field. A small percentage of college athletes actually get a chance to play professional baseball, therefore, I believe it is very important to have an education to utilize later in life."

Hawk has some basic philosophies about baseball and instills them into each club he coaches. "I want my players to work hard and to be competitive," said Hawk. "I want them to want to achieve their goals and to have high expectations of themselves. Work ethics should carry through from practice to the games."

Hawk designs teams according to his baseball philosophy and to the character of each team. Every year brings a different chemistry of players with the coaching staff molding and shaping each team to be highly competitive.

With outstanding defense and solid pitching, LB clubs have kept up with the tradition of fine baseball. LBCC ballclubs feel the pressures from their opponents each year. All players, whether they are pitching, playing outfield, or at an infield position have to be ready both mentally and physically every time they go out on the ball field," Hawk stated.

Hawk looks at his 1993 team as one that could be strong contenders for the Southern Division league title as well as achieve a berth to the NWAACC tournament. "The 1993 team will be young due to the loss of veteran pitching and several second year players. The ball players we have this year have determination, team camaraderie and heart. I believe they will grow and mature in their playing abilities as the season progresses. The league is going to be a tough one again this year and the opponents will be out to beat the team with the tradition.

Miller's expertise in the areas of coaching running technique and aerobic conditioning has proven to be a positive factor for the club. Coach Miller models his coaching style after several individuals including: Jim Luster (West Albany High School), Gary Feasel (EOSC), Ron Stephens (Pendleton High School), and Coach Greg Hawk (LBCC). Coach Miller's life goals are to give young people the opportunity to excel in education, sports and life. He enjoys playing golf, fishing, hunting, playing slow-pitch softball and spending time with his family and his father, Chub Miller. Coach Kenny assists Coach Hawk during the off-season in the area of weight training and strength building. In his spare time he enjoys water skiing and being around sports of all kinds. Of this years team, Kenny states "If we play hard we can compete with anybody."

YOUR KIND OF GAME

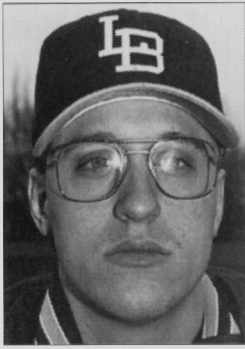

Athletics at LBCC is a special kind of game - upbeat and competitive - FUN. We think that is just the kind of game you want and like.

Athletics emphasize the wholesome overall development of student athletes and doing the very best possible with the abilities of those athletes. The results are games that you, the fan, can get close to; you can sweat, strain, groan, and glow right along with these fine young student athletes.

LBCC athletics is a personal kind of game - your kind of game. Community college athletics need the financial assistance of the fans to build an edge of quality and winning.

We happily promote the LBCC Booster Club to provide financial support for the athletics at LBCC. Several levels of support are available. For full details on how to participate in the LBCC Boosters, please contact Athletic Director Dave Bakley or Coach Greg Hawk in the Athletic Department, 967-6109.

Thanks for supporting LBCC Athletics!
