

Syllabus: General Psychology (PSY201) CRN 31064
Winter 2017

Instructor: Laura Jones, Ph.D. Office: SSH-109
E-Mail: jonesl@linnbenton.edu
Class Time/Day: Mondays and Wednesdays 2-3:50
Office hours: Tues noon to 12:50
Class Location: RCH 202

Required Materials

- Myers & Dewall (2015) Psychology, 11th Edition. New York, NY: Worth.

Course Description

PSY201 - General Psychology is an introduction to several of the different sub-fields and methods of study in psychology. Students should leave this course with an understanding of the biological and cognitive aspects of psychology, including: history, methodology, biological foundations of behavior, human development, sensation, perception, learning, memory, language, and problem-solving.

Course Learning Outcomes

As a result of successfully completing this course, I expect you will be able to:

- Demonstrate knowledge of scientific methodology.
- Show knowledge of basic nervous system anatomy and function.
- Explain the role of heredity, evolution, culture and environment in human behavior and development.
- Describe the process of physical, cognitive and social change over the human lifespan.
- Explain the role of biology, culture and environment on perception, learning, memory, reasoning, problem-solving and language.

Instructor Responsibilities

The current week's content and assignments will be posted on moodle by noon each Monday. I will be available to support your learning when requested. I will hold you accountable by following through with course objectives and syllabus content. My aim is to facilitate a classroom environment that encourages active, effective and respectful activities, discussion and learning.

Student Responsibilities

- Critically read/analyze assigned information.
- Use your LBCC email account to communicate with me.
- Effectively participate in class assignments, activities, quizzes, and evaluations.

Important Note: All students who are on the class roster will be enrolled in the Moodle site for this course during the 1st week of classes. You will take all your quizzes on Moodle in addition to accessing the syllabus, your grades, study guides, internet links and handouts. You must be able to upload assignments and take exams on moodle. It is an expectation for this course that you will use moodle independently and seek help from the eLearning center if you have questions related to using moodle. For information on how to use moodle check out this site. If you are not prepared to work independently with moodle, drop this course immediately.

Course Requirements

Note: Weekly quizzes, Discussion Forum Activity, and Exams will all take place on moodle outside of class time.

Your final grade in this class will be determined by your performance on the following:

Quizzes: There will be 9 open book online quizzes at the Moodle site for this course (see Table 1 for more information). Item types include true/false, multiple choice, and matching. T/F = 1 point; multiple choice with 1 answer = 1 point; multiple choice with more than one 1 answer = 2 points; matching = 3 points. You will have 20 minutes to take each quiz. Quizzes are available by noon on Monday and are open until 9am the following Monday.

Exams: Two exams will assess your understanding of the course material. Exam 1 covers lecture material and text chapters 1-5. Exam 2 covers lecture material from weeks 6-9. Items consist of multiple-choice, true/false and matching items.

Class Activity Participation: You will receive credit for participation during in-class activities. Activities designated as earning participation points will be randomly assigned at the beginning of the term and announced before the activity.

Conceptual Learning Assignments: Three assignments will be due during the term. These assignments are designed to assess your overall comprehension of a selected topic.

Discussion Forum Activity: In addition to readings, quizzes and exams, you will participate in forums about topics related to the course. You will be instructed to watch a brief video, listen to a podcast or do a reading and then post your reaction. Your post should reflect an integration of course lecture content and/or your reading with your perspective. You will also respond to at least 1 other classmates' post. Forum activities are posted by noon on Monday and are open until 9am the following Monday.

Treat these discussion topics and your classmates with respect. We all have unique values and beliefs relating to the subject matter. It is important that you bring your unique perspective to share in a way that is non-dogmatic so that others can "listen" and understand you. I encourage you to ask questions, agree, and disagree with others as much as possible, as long as you do so respectfully. Participating in this class gives you an opportunity to learn the course content, but also to develop your personal understanding about human relations. In order to receive full credit, your forum posts should reflect an integration of the podcast, video or reading assigned for the activity and/or the ideas covered in the weekly text readings. I will enter the Forums to "observe" your progress and sometimes join the discussion. The forum is a good way for you to interact with others in the class and share your perspective and questions and learn about class members. This kind of sharing has the potential to move your experience and thinking to a higher level. Make good use of it! CONFIDENTIALITY

In your online discussions you may choose to share personal anecdotes about people you know. Remember to speak from your own perspective. In addition, please protect the confidentiality of others in your life. Refer to them by first initial only (e.g. "T" rather than Thomas). You may also refer to "my sister", "my uncle", "my neighbor" or "my friend".

Attendance: This is a lecture, and student small group and participation class, so attendance is important. Participation activity points are given for in-class activities. Which activity earns participation points is randomly chosen at the beginning of the term and is not announced until the day of the activity.

Campus Resources: Many resources such as the Learning Center, the Writing Desk, and Family Connections are available to you as a student. These resources are described in the student services section of the schedule of classes.

Preparedness: Please come to class prepared to discuss the reading assignments. In addition, if you have missed class, you should check the Moodle site for handouts or class activities that may be due.

Cheating/Plagiarism: Using someone else’s work as your own or using information or ideas without proper citation (which is called plagiarism) can lead to your failing the assignment, test or class. Bibliographies and in text citations are required whenever you use outside sources, including internet sources (unless otherwise indicated by me).

All coursework is submitted/conducted online via moodle. Do not send anything by email. Quizzes and assignments are posted by noon on Monday and must be completed/submitted on moodle before 9am on the following Monday.

Grades are figured on straight percentage based on the total number of points possible. I encourage you to check in with me about your progress throughout the term to maximize your success and minimize any surprises.

A= 90-100%

B= 80-89%

C= 70-79%

D= 60-69%

F= 59% or below

Incomplete Grades: You may be eligible for an ‘Incomplete’ grade if you have finished 90% of the class work. If you have an ‘Incomplete,’ all coursework must be finished by the end of the next term. I can only award an ‘A’, ‘B’, ‘C’, 'D', or 'F' grade. You must contact me at least one week before the end of the term with proper documentation to receive an Incomplete.
